WRIT APPEAL NO.2076 OF 2005

J U D G M E N T (Per the Hon'ble Sri Bilal Nazki, ACJ):

Heard learned counsel for the parties.

The appellants/writ petitioners along with W.P.No.22488 of 2005 filed W.P.M.P.No.28801 of 2005, which has been dismissed by the learned Single

Judge. In this application, the writ petitioners wanted stay of further process of election in the first respondent-society on various grounds. The learned Single Judge dismissed the application, inter alia, on the ground that the stay could not be granted at this stage when the election process had been set in motion and the polling date had been fixed as on 26-10-2005. We do not find any reason to interfere in the order passed by the learned Single Judge. The writ appeal is accordingly dismissed. However, it will be open for the writ petitioners to seek remedies available to them in law after the election. No order as to costs.
